

*Convergence of Industry, Government and Academia –
Applied Polymer Research*

APRIL 21, 2006

REGISTRATION & BREAKFAST BEGIN AT 8:30 AM

COLLEGE OF STATEN ISLAND
2800 VICTORY BOULEVARD
CENTER FOR THE ARTS - BUILDING 1P
STATEN ISLAND, NY 10314

FOR MORE INFORMATION VISIT:
HTTP://WWW.CHEM.CSI.CUNY.EDU/CEPM
OR CALL: (718) 982-3942

SEE BACK FOR ADDITIONAL DETAILS

Convergence of Industry, Government and Academia –
Applied Polymer Research
Friday April 21, 2006
College of Staten Island—Center for the Arts (1P)
Breakfast & Registration 8:30am

8:30AM	Breakfast & Registration
	Welcome Remarks – Dr. Nan-Loh Yang, CePM Director
9:30AM	Opening Remarks – Dr. David M. Podell, Senior VP for Academic Affairs/Provost
9:45AM	Kathleen Wise Director of Programs NYSTAR “Bridging the Gap: The NYSTAR Partnerships”
10:30AM	Dr. John Brahms Senior Manager - Physical Sciences Avon Products Inc. “Building Strong Industry-Academic Relationships”
11:15AM	Dr. Leonard Interrante Professor of Chemistry RPI Polymer Center “Polycarbosilanes as ceramic precursors and low-k dielectric materials”
12:00PM	LUNCH
1:30PM	Prof. Theodore Hagelin Director, Professor of Law New York State Science & Technology Law Center “The Role of the NYS Science and Technology Law Center in Technology Commercialization”
2:15PM	Dr. Brian Muellers VP of Media R&D Pall Life Sciences “Polymeric materials leading innovation in the filtration industry”
3:00PM	Dr. Geraud Dubois Senior Engineer/Scientist IBM Almaden Research Center “IBM Innovations - Collaborative Technological Excellence”
3:45PM	Dr. Alamgir Karim Group Leader, Nanostructured Materials Polymers Division, NIST “Combinatorial research on nanostructured materials: A successful model for federal, academic and industrial collaborations”
4:30PM	Closing Remarks

RSVP DEADLINE: April 7, 2006
You may RSVP by calling: (718) 982-3942 or by emailing us at Cardona.cepm@mail.csi.cuny.edu

Your RSVP will reserve your meeting space and lunch